Program, Includes School, Pre-School Children

"Arrangements are made to vaccinate the children of the three public schools at the King George school on Friday afternoon, commencing about 1.30 o'clock," Dr. J. H. Wesley, M. O. H., has announced.

"Only those who will be done whose parents have requested it by returning the consent cards, and if there are any who wish to have the smallpox vaccination, it will be available on request," Dr. Wesley said. "Also, those who are not present at the time set cannot expect to be taken care of at another time, but will have to make private arrangements with their family physician.

"The pre-school children will be done at the King George school Saturday afternoon, commencing at 1.30 o'clock. Two nurses will be in attendance.

"The complete toxoid course consists of three treatments, which are given with a three weeks' interval between each.

"Special arrangements are being made to take care of the children of St. John's school early next week."

Widening Of Main St. Stays A Matter For Discussion

MAYOR WOULD PAY FIRE
CHIEF, DOESN'T LIKE SYSTEM

Since the last council meeting I have consulted with engineers about the widening of Main St., Councillor A. D. Evans, chairman of the water and light committee, told the town council at a meeting Monday evening.

"They said our situation wasn't suitable to use brackets," Mr. Evans said. "Widening one block of the street was discussed at the last meeting, and I still believe it would be a patch job. Orillia has a splendid job, but every bracket was estimated for. We could widen the street by moving the poles back a few inches and that wouldn't affect the lighting. But don't blame us if the job isn't satisfactory."

"You say it is difficult to do these things in wartime, but I believe your ideas might be altered," stated Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales. "Employment is at a peak now. I believe it would be wise economy and financing to get some of these improvements done. If we can't do it now, we never will be able to do it. After the war is over, hard times will be here and we will try to keep the tax rate at a low level. There is no use being stubborn about this thing. There is more money being made now in town than for the past 15 years."

"All the work we leave now will make it better after the war is over," said Councillor Evans. "We will be able to give men employment instead of relief."

"It is hard to get the men now to do the work," agreed Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"There will always be plenty of work in connection with the town," stated the mayor.

A letter was received from the "Buckshee Society" requesting the privilege of holding a tag day the middle of October. This society sends cigarettes overseas. It was decided that nothing could be done this month, on account of other tag days.

INTERRUPTIONS CAUSE
MUCH INCONVENIENCE

Electric power interruptions Tuesday afternoon from before 5 o'clock for over an hour and Wednesday morning from before 9 o'clock for about half an hour caused serious inconvenience to housewives, factories and business places. The interruptions were due to line troubles outside of Newmarket.

just rearrange our relationship with them it would be a lot better."

"We should invite a spirit of co-operation between the bridge and council," said Reeve Lumley. "They have done excellent work."

"For many years the chief of the fire brigade was also the chairman of the water and light committee," stated N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

INTER-CAMP FIGHT PROMISED BY VETS

Newmarket Veterans Association is planning another evening of boxing. Bill White is the promoter, again, with President Alf Smith, Secretary John Duffield and the full membership putting their shoulders to the wheel.

The event is set for Oct. 22, and will bring together boxers from Newmarket camp and Borden. The Citizens' band will be in attendance. Veterans are asked to contact Mr. White for tickets.

"There will always be plenty of work in connection with the town," stated the mayor.

"All we do is give them a grant and when the fire whistle blows sit back and hope that everything will be alright. Some particular person should accept the responsibility. I am not criticizing the brigade. If we could

READ TO COUNCIL

Sponsor of beverage rooms in Newmarket and operator of the King George hotel, Councillor Arleigh Armstrong found himself in an embarrassing position at a regular meeting of the town council on Monday evening, when he was called upon, as chairman of the council-in-committee, to read the following letter from the Women's Institutes of North York protesting against the establishment of beer rooms in Newmarket.

"To the members of the town council:

"Whereas the Women's Institute is one of the largest non-partisan and non-sectarian organizations in the whole world and,

"Whereas the object of the organization is to emphasize the social and economic factors harmonizing community and home life; to raise the general standard of health and morals of our people and to support any movement which has as its object the uplift of the home and betterment of conditions surrounding community life and,

"Whereas the district of North York comprises some 25 branches of the Women's Institute with a membership of approximately 500 women interested in community welfare and mothers of our future generation and,

"Whereas we feel that the establishment of beverage rooms and beer parlors are a distinct menace to the welfare of the whole community,

"Therefore be it resolved that the members of the Women's Institutes in the district of North York do strongly protest the establishment of such beverage rooms or beer parlors or liquor stores in the town of Newmarket and more especially for the duration of the war.

"Signed on behalf of the executive,

"(Mrs. C. W.) Olla H. Marchant, Secretary.

"Mrs. B. Sinclair, President."

Other members of the council "kidded" Mr. Armstrong about his new viewpoint.

The council took no action concerning the petition, as the matter rests with the liquor control board and the voters.

MILTON MORTON

Following are some quotations from a letter received from Private Milton G. Morton, a Royal Canadian Engineer overseas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morton, Newmarket.

"The weather has been fair and mild here lately. The nights get pretty cold, and the days are getting short. We are still living in tents.

"Last Sunday I went to Portsmouth and enjoyed the sea.

"The Duke of Gloucester has turned over an estate for military purposes, and a huge camp is being built there. Ten of us are attached to the Imperial army, along with trucks to haul supplies and materials for the building of the camp. Today a parade was called after dinner, and we had to get into full battle-dress.

"When the parade was called, in drove the king and queen and inspected the entire parade and the work of construction. When they came to the end of the parade where we, the ten Canadians, were standing, in a group apart from the imperials, they singled us out in an informal gesture, and shook hands with each of us. It was a great honor and the rest of the unit back at headquarters feel as though they had missed something.

"Have received some parcels of food which, of course, I share with the four others in our tent. Say, I never want to even look at a sheep again in my life. Mutton stew day after day without a break makes you think you can almost taste the wool."

STANDING WOMEN

"Sometimes it is easier for women to sew, knit and do other war work than it is for them to face up to the problems that war brings," said Miss Ethel Chapman, author of "With Flame of Freedom," speaking at the Newmarket Women's Institute "V for Victory" fair last Thursday afternoon in the town hall.

A large group of women from the town and neighboring rural districts was present for the official opening of the fair in the town hall and the program of music and speeches which followed.

The rolling of drums accompanied the raising of the curtain in the hall, with Miss Ruby Strasser of Queensville seated on a throne representing Britannia. A bugler played the call to arms. A detachment of soldiers under Sgt. Wm. Andrews marched to the platform, and presented arms and formed a V around the throne. Rev. Arthur Grever of the Christian-Congregational church sang "Rule Britannia" while the soldiers stood with fixed bayonets. Capt. Ernest Falle of the Salvation Army led in prayer.

Following this ceremony the president of the Newmarket Women's Institute, Mrs. Thos. Watson, introduced Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, who officially opened the fair.

The Newmarket high school glee club, under the direction of Miss Ada Lunn, sang three delightful numbers, "Sweet and Low," "Summertime," and "Land of Glad Tomorrows."

Mrs. Frank Hope then introduced Miss Chapman, the guest speaker.

WILL LEAVE CHURCH AFTER 12 YEARS

At the morning service at St. Paul's church last Sunday, Rev. A. J. Patstone, who has been rector of the church since 1929, advised the congregation that he was to be transferred to another parish, and the pulpit would be vacant at the end of the month.

It was with deep regret that the congregation heard the message and all realized that his going would be felt by Newmarket citizens as a whole, as well as by his own immediate congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Patstone have been active in every branch of the church's work, and will be greatly missed. In the evening, Mr. Patstone exchanged pulpits with Rev. J. H. Colclough, B. A., of Thornhill, where Mr. Patstone preached the harvest thanksgiving sermon.

The soldiers' table will again be at the west door of the church next Sunday both morning and evening for anyone wishing to donate a gift for the Christmas boxes to be sent to enlisted men from the congregation, at home and overseas. Donations of money will be also welcomed to help pay the postage.

The W.A. were grateful to all who have already contributed. There are 25 names already on the list, so they will need more help.

Next Thursday at 3 p.m. D.S.T. the W.A. are to have Mrs. White, wife of Bishop White, who spent so many years in missionary work in Japan and China, to give an address.

Mrs. White will bring native costumes, which will be modelled by different members of the branch. The members of branches of nearby parishes have been invited and anyone interested will be welcomed.

When you hear of a few from the camp who have been disorderly and have gotten themselves into unpleasant scrapes, please do not judge the whole training centre by these few. Just remember that the camp is composed of the men you mothers have raised. The vast majority of them are gentlemen from just as good a home as the one you represent. These boys are all mothers' sons needing and craving your interest and your care.

The women of Newmarket appreciate every little attention and kindness given their own boys in England and elsewhere. Why not then "do unto others here what we would have others do unto ours there?"

Few have accepted the responsibilities they owe these soldier men in town. Now you have an opportunity to show how willing you are to do something for their comfort and entertainment during their leisure hours.

There will be considerable expense in decorating and furnishing the club-house (now the L.O.O.F. hall) but it can be done. A tag day will be held Saturday, Oct. 18, under the auspices of the Citizen-Soldier club. The money raised will all be used to equip and get the club away to a good start.

When the taggers all please meet them graciously and give from the heart generously.

"That's alright," replied Mr. Evans. "The chairs have to be moved for badminton. It would be the finest thing that ever happened for everyone. It won't be long now before you'll be having boys come back from the war and they will be veterans, looking for some place to go. (Page 8, Col. 7)

"The market could be dispensed with," answered the mayor.

"It wouldn't need to interfere with anything," said Councillor A. D. Evans. "We could use the whole building. There were 20 people at the meeting, representing three or four different organizations. The only other building is the United church, and we decided that the boys wouldn't like to go into a church that they didn't know. Any time the town needed the auditorium for a concert or anything, they could have it."

"From Jan. 1 until the end of May last year the town hall was used 19 times, an average of once a week," stated Mr. Vale. "Look at the work there would be moving the chairs."

Citizen-Soldier Club Will Bring Together Veterans, Recruits

Mayor's Idea Accepted When Council Doubts
Wisdom Of Taking Over Town Hall For Purpose

The L.O.O.F. hall on Millard Ave. will be taken over on Nov. 22 by the newly formed Citizen-Soldier club as a recreation room for soldiers and war veterans.

Officers of the club are: president, Councillor Wm. Dixon; 1st vice-president, to be named by camp; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. N. L. Mathews; treasurer, Mrs. Allen Cody; secretary, A. N. Belugin; executive, Jack Stephenson, William White, Councillor Arthur Evans and Councillor Frank Bowser.

Attention! A new organization has been formed in the town of Newmarket to be known in future as the Citizen-Soldier club.

Each individual in the town and in the district is asked to stand foursquare behind this organization and to give it wholehearted support.

Since the military camp was first located in our town there has been a great need for a club-house downtown for the trainees and the men of the active service forces.

The object of the organization is to bring into being a club-house for the boys, outside the camp where, when off duty, they can congregate and enjoy a quiet and comfortable time reading, writing or playing such games as cribbage, chess, checkers and cards.

The club will be open every day and evening of the week and all day Sunday. On Sundays the wives, families and friends of the soldiers will be welcome to come to the club, to meet with and visit the boys in warm, comfortable surroundings instead of, as now, having to walk the streets in all kinds of weather.

You will agree that it is high time Newmarket took this step in an attempt to make the soldier boys a little more comfortable and happy in the town.

The club is intended to serve three purposes: First, a club for the boys of the military camp here; second, for the veterans of the 1914-18 world war; third, for the veterans who will soon commence to return from this present war.

All these men will have much in common and should find enjoyment in meeting one another, exchanging stories, swapping experiences, talking over problems and, when asked, offering advice.

When you hear of a few from the camp who have been disorderly and have gotten themselves into unpleasant scrapes, please do not judge the whole training centre by these few. Just remember that the camp is composed of the men you mothers have raised. The vast majority of them are gentlemen from just as good a home as the one you represent. CLERICAL LEADERSHIP

"We are asked by the government to save our money to buy war certificates and otherwise help the financing of the war, yet the unrestricted sale of liquor is allowed to sap the strength of our people, and most certainly hamper our war effort." This is a recent statement by His Grace Archbishop McGuigan, who a few weeks ago was in Newmarket to open the new convent of the Sisters of Providence.

In fairness it should be pointed out that the government which asks us to save our pennies is not the government which encourages the sale of liquor and forever seeks new outlets and increased liquor revenues. But it is the sales-promoting government which is the chief critic of the war effort of the other government.

The people of Newmarket, we believe, take the attitude of Archbishop McGuigan that the present is not the time to increase liquor consumption. Increased use of alcoholic drinks will not contribute to the war effort.

Archbishop McGuigan, we suspect, would take the same attitude against "unrestricted sale" even in peacetime, for the church has never favored excessive use of alcoholic beverages. As a matter of fact, Newmarket owes its status as a local option town largely to a clergyman, the loved Father Whitney, who secured in St. Patrick's ward three decades ago the majority needed to banish the saloons from Newmarket.

THANKS TO THE C.C.F.

Many people who wouldn't like to admit that they were indebted to the C.C.F. assert that they believe in the conscription of manpower and wealth. It shows that ideas do get around. That particular idea was espoused and publicized by C.C.F. orators a few years ago. Now there is no one who will not agree with its soundness. The only hitch is that there is a little disagreement about the meaning of conscription of wealth. Some people contend that taxation now amounts to conscription of wealth, just as some people contend that the trainee scheme for men 21 to 24 years amounts to conscription of men for overseas service.

To our mind the idea is sound only as an argument against the conscription of manpower. It isn't fair to conscript men to risk their lives and not at the same time conscript the capital of others who cannot fight, but it isn't practical to do that either. The idea is all right, but, unless unfairly restricted to idle money, it would mean the government assuming ownership of homes and businesses and all sorts of things that wouldn't be much help in winning the war.

Nationalization of industry to attain greater war efficiency or as a peace-time social program would be a very different thing from the "conscription of wealth." Real conscription of wealth as an immediate war measure is impractical and without it the conscription of men is unfair.

COERCION

The death of Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario during the Great War, has recalled the prohibition story. What happened in Ontario happened in most of the other Canadian provinces and in the United States, and yet some people still think that prohibition failed because the police did not try to enforce it or for some other equally simple reason. Prohibition didn't succeed because there were a lot of people against it, some of them people who didn't want to be without liquor and some of them people who had never been particularly interested in the stuff before but who were out to show that they could not be coerced.

The pendulum has swung the other way and now alcoholic consumption on this continent is probably at an all-time peak.

The pendulum will swing again and we may expect to see a great reduction in alcoholic consumption. Government educational campaigns for voluntary reduction of consumption would probably make America much drier than in the first blush of prohibition.

Incidentally, it would be interesting to know how many people who are opposed to prohibition as a matter of principle favor conscription as a result of some other principle.

TONY WOLFE'S CONVICTION

Many Newmarket citizens will learn with regret of the conviction of Tony Wolfe on a charge of attempted arson. He came to Newmarket with practically no means and by hard work he, and his wife, built up a substantial business. Whatever mistakes he has made, it stands to his credit that he had made friends in Newmarket who stood loyally by him and believe in his innocence. A former mayor of the town and warden of the county provided bail for him and still believes him innocent.

The light sentence—a year and a half at Guelph Reformatory—is also to his credit and was imposed after the court had heard character evidence. The conviction was based principally not on any definite evidence against him but rather on his own conflicting and inconsistent statements, and for those statements, even if he was innocent of the offence charged, he could not but expect some punishment. In the course of 24 hours on the witness stand in two days (14 hours one day and ten hours the next day) he apparently contradicted his own evidence and made such obviously rattled statements as that he had taken building material to Beeton on his ten-ton truck when it was really a one-ton truck. That would have been a real gruelling for any man, and for one having an imperfect knowledge of the language an ordeal under which it would be difficult to make a favorable showing. The court could hardly have done other than convict him, but let us remember that it is still possible that he was innocent of the charge of attempted arson.

While he is a naturalized Canadian citizen, he had the disadvantage of belonging to a race of which we are at present ready to believe the worst (although we do not generally consider them as stupid as we assume Tony Wolfe to have been in this sorry business). People were more anxious to give evidence that would convict him than evidence that would exonerate him. The scales were tipped against him.

At the same time, it is to our credit as a country that a person of such extraction could at a time like this receive what must be regarded as a fair trial and a lenient sentence.

Before long Tony Wolfe will be back in Newmarket to rehabilitate himself and re-build his business. We believe that Newmarket people will be ready to give him an even break (the war may be over by then) and in the meantime let us not be unkind to his wife and child.

HITLER MISQUOTED?

When Hitler put on his uniform at the beginning of the war he said that he would not take it off until he had won the conflict which would determine the future of Germany or Europe for the next 1,000 years. In his speech last week he is reported to have said that events now in progress would determine the future of Europe for the next 100 years.

How are we to account for this conservatism? Does Hitler now assume that Britain and her allies will win, and that the peace they will impose will not have an influence on European affairs of over a century's duration, or does he still think that Germany will win and, as a result of his experience in keeping down subjugated peoples, does he now think that 100 years will be a long time for Germany to stay on top of the heap?

BORN TO RULE?

A member of the United States administration says that after the war Britain and the United States must police the world. How any responsible public man, and there are others both British and American uttering similar opinions, can think that such a statement contributes to the winning of the war is difficult to understand. Surely we haven't that much confidence in ourselves as judges and governors. If we had, the rest of the world has not.

There is still nothing the matter with Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations if re-established along democratic lines. One of its principal defects the last time was that the most powerful victors were given permanent seats on the council, and they were so busy looking after their own interests that they couldn't agree on appropriate police action when occasion arose. It would be even more difficult for two nations to rule the world.

Anglo-Saxon assumption of infallibility or racial superiority would be just as mischievous as Germany's assumption of divine approval. We too do things we shouldn't. Since the last war we have incorporated several mandates—territory which in theory we held in temporary trust—into the British empire. The United States contributed to the present war by her aloofness and isolationism. Even today the United States constitution prevents the administration from taking decisive action in world affairs.

Woodrow Wilson's promise of government of the world by the world for the world was a mighty factor in the collapse of Germany and her allies during the last war. The promise of a world policed by Britain and the United States will only stiffen the resistance of the German people and cool the enthusiasm of our non-Anglo-Saxon allies.

CARRY ON, BRAVE YORK VOLUNTEERS

When people say, as they often do say, that none of us is yet aware that there is a war on they of course refer to those of us who remain in Canada's fair domain. It is true that a lot of us are still untroubled by the horrors of Europe, but it is also a fact that there are many devoted workers—workers in a humble way—who are ever conscious of the great struggle overseas. Even when they take an hour for recreation their knitting-needles still flash as they build the better world of the future.

At the moment, however, we are thinking of another group. The militia units of Canada are unsung workers for that same fine new world. Their devotion and sacrifice are great. The boys of the Queen's York Rangers (C company) find their own transportation to and from the place for drill, formerly in Newmarket, now in Aurora, and drill once a week without remuneration, in the hope that they will some day be useful to Canada. They would be entitled to half pay for their evening's drill (the government allows the regiment pay for only 300 men), but men and officers have patriotically agreed to pool their pay to finance the regiment's other needs.

The official "war effort" does not seem to take much interest in the regiment, however. Active service units thank the Queen's York Rangers for some of the best trained officers and men on their strength, but the Queen's Yorks as a unit carry on and on long for mobilization.

At the moment C company of the Queen's Yorks are carrying on their important training work in the dilapidated, salvage-sodden, Aurora armories, a home which they have by permission of the Aurora Boy Scouts, who were able to obtain use of the armories after the Queen's Yorks failed. The Boy Scouts at least appreciate the Yorks. Anyone who visits the armories on a Thursday night to see the drill conditions under which the company proposes to carry on drill during the winter months cannot but exclaim: "Here are devotion and patriotism indeed!"

WHAT OTHERS THINK

POST-WAR GERMANY

(Port Erie Times-Review)

One hears much discussion of late about what must be done with Germany after this war is concluded by an Allied victory. There is general agreement that the Germanic peoples must, in some way, be prevented for all time from again becoming a menace to the peace and well-being of the rest of the world. Peace-minded countries cannot tolerate the necessity for converting their entire economy into an arsenal and most of their adult males into armed battalions every 20 years or so—or whenever some Teutonic leader feels that the time is propitious to strike again.

Neither are those nations which prefer the ways of peace and comity content to maintain the onerous burden of huge armaments, large standing armies in constant training and other defensive measures during the intervening years when the Hun is licking his wounds—but planning another marauding expedition; another attempt at world conquest.

One school of thought clings to the belief that only German leadership is at fault; that the common people of that country are not culpable. Those holding this opinion declare that the overthrow of the present Nazi dictatorship will allow the true, pacific spirit of the German masses to assert itself; that a new, amicable and co-operative Deutschland will then arise, like the mythological Phoenix from its ashes.

Realists who know something of history, together with most of those who were adults during the last Great War, emphatically reject that opinion. It is their firm conviction that German leadership is of the kind that the temperament of the majority of the German people welcomes—or, at least, tolerates best. These realists insist that Germans like regimentation and being ordered about in their daily lives by those in authority. They contend that, to the average German, warfare is ecstasy—and drastic remedies must be applied to prevent that feeling of exaltation again manifesting itself in the form of a fully-armed, aggressive Germany. The remedies proposed vary all the way from complete and permanent disarmament of Germany to the sterilization of its entire population, both male and female.

Whatever preventive measures are taken against future aggression by the Reich, it is unthinkable that the same mistakes will be made as were made after the armistice which ended the last war. Then, the fatal error was made of not enforcing some of the most essential provisions of the peace agreement. This time, if Germany's absolute disarmament for evermore is part of the terms of peace, the other nations of the world are not likely to shut their eyes to violations until that country has fully re-armed.

The price paid to learn that lesson has been too high for it to be readily forgotten.

THE ROBINS DON'T TAKE A HINT

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"How in the world did we get surrounded by this flock of Robins," Nutty Nuthatch inquired of Young Chips and Merry Chickadee in surprised tones.

"Didn't you notice them when they arrived a couple of minutes ago?" Merry responded. "There are quite a lot, aren't there?"

Just then one of the Robins saw the three friends and came over and spoke to them.

"Hello there!" he said in a friendly voice. "Where is the best eating place around this district—berries, I mean, or anything especially tasty?"

"Really, you must think we are awfully generous if you expect us to tell you that," exclaimed Young Chips somewhat indignantly. "If we told a great big flock of Robins where to go for a good meal we'd be crazy. Think of all the food you would eat! If you must eat, you'll have to find the food for yourselves."

"I was afraid you'd say that," sighed the Robin. "I'm one of the leaders of this flock and I just thought it would save time if I could find a good place without having to look too hard."

"I suppose you Robins will be leaving us soon?" asked Nutty with a hopeful note in his voice.

"Oh, no, not yet awhile," the Robin assured him cheerfully. "Not until we can't find any more food and it gets quite cold. There's plenty of food right now, lots of berries of different kinds and a fine supply of weed seeds."

"I just thought, since so many of the birds were leaving, that you might be too," said Nutty, rather lamely. "The Geese have been flying south you know, and lots of the other birds. The Geese are the most patriotic to my mind."

"Why in the world should the Geese be any more patriotic than anybody else?" asked Merry curiously.

"Why it shows even in the way they fly, in a V for Victory formation," retorted Nutty with a chuckle.

"That's right, too," said Merry thoughtfully. "I hadn't thought of it."

"Well, I guess we'll have to move around a bit and see if we can find some nice weed berries," the Robin said a little later. "Don't wish us luck if you don't feel like it." He went to join his companions and in another moment they had all gone on across the field.

"I suppose they can't help eating, but if they're going south anyway, I wish they'd go and not wait until they've cleaned up on all our food, and then go," said Young Chips. "That same feeling comes over me every autumn."

"Perhaps we ought to go south ourselves for a change," suggested Nutty with a solemn face.

"What!" exclaimed Young Chips in horrified tones. "Are you crazy? You must be out of your mind to think of leaving Newmarket. Why I wouldn't dream of it! Perhaps there will be a few days when we're very cold and very hungry this coming winter, but think of the good we do by our cheery presence in the depths of winter. We've always lived here and we always will. I simply don't understand you!"

"That was quite a speech, considering that I just said it for a joke, to see what you'd say," said Nutty. "Look here," he chirped a second later. "We've got someone else with us now, right down in those bushes. I couldn't see who it was."

"Oh, I see it," said Merry excitedly. "It's peering at us from that big bush at the right. It looks like Jenny Wren."

"Let me see," ordered Young Chips and he looked where Merry pointed. "It's smaller and darker than Jenny. Come on out, Willie," he called. "We see you all right. Welcome back from the northland."

"Of course," murmured Nutty as the little short-tailed Wren appeared and came over to join them. "Willie, the Winter Wren, is just about due now. I had forgotten to be on the lookout for him."

"Did you have a good summer?" asked Merry in friendly tones.

"Oh, splendid, splendid," answered the Wren. "We had a nice nest, which we built up north in a tangle of fallen trees and branches. It was made of twigs, moss and leaves, and warmly lined with feathers from Hawks and Crows, or any other kind we found, don't you know?" he went on.

"Ugh," shuddered Merry. "I wouldn't want Hawks' feathers in my nest, thank you. They would give me the creeps."

"And let me tell you," the Wren continued, "that we raised two fine broods of young Wrens, four in the first lot and six in the second. I want to tell you that we were pretty proud of them, and not one of them weak or sickly."

"Did someone mention Hawks a moment ago?" inquired Nutty nervously when he happened to look up to the north. "Here comes a flock of a dozen or more of them, right this way."

"Merry, this happens nearly every day just now," complained Merry in great agitation. "We'd better hurry right back into the woods until they get past. Come on, come on."

"We're right with you," said Young Chips. "I certainly don't like this Hawk war on the home front."

The Common Round

FAREWELLS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

It seems to me that on just such a day as this—rain falling from a leaden sky and the wind moaning like a lost soul as it sends the leaves scurrying before it that Tosti's song came into being.

"Falling leaf and fading tree. Lines of white on a sullen sea. Shadows rising on you and me,—Goodbye, summer, goodbye, goodbye."

For days the birds have been coming to the bird-bath and pool to drink and bathe, a sign that they are making preparations for migration or winter. It's been a joy to watch them and fun too, for the big birds seem to be cowards and the little ones will take a chance.

The bird-bath is only little more than a foot across, yet I saw two good-sized red-headed woodpeckers trying to bathe in it at the same time, while in the pool, which is perhaps two and a half or three feet wide, 20 little birds were splashing and throwing up regular sheets of spray.

They were so busy and having such a jolly time that they paid no attention to me, though I stood in full view at the window nearest them.

It has always been a source of wonder to me that the birds bathe far more on these dull, chilly days than they did in the warm pleasant weather.

Is it a gesture of farewell, a last frolic before the strenuous work of finding a living in winter, or do they find in the water something invigorating and health-giving that fits them for their long trek southward?

And speaking of farewells, there seemed something infinitely suitable about the time chosen to tender a farewell party to some of our boys who have done the king's uniform and are going forth to fight for king and country.

They are going with the falling leaves and the migration of the birds, but the leaves come again in the spring and the birds return to their old haunts, and that is a happy augury.

Saturday night, Sept. 27, the Bogartown schoolhouse saw a gathering unique in its history—the community gathered as one big family to say farewell to three of its sons and an adopted one, who were here on last leave.

The first part of the evening was devoted to games and community singing, interspersed with patriotic selections by the Harper orchestra.

Then came the event—the core of the evening. Reeve Toole, acting as chairman, asked Troopers Orley McClure and Cecil Hoover, Private Douglas Sheridan and Aircraftman Kenneth Wagg to come to the platform and there, standing against the beautiful new school flag presented by Mr. J. Stickwood and surrounded by the colors of

POLICE COURT

Drinks Beverage Room

Beer In Car, Fined $10

Newmarket police court on Tuesday was one of the shortest this year. Most of the cases heard by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe were for exceeding the speed limit, of which there were 26. Of the more serious offences but one case was heard and the defendant, Lawrence E. Rose, Brownhill, who pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession, was fined $10 and costs or ten days. His beer was ordered confiscated.

As the officer, Constable William Hill, Sutton, who laid the charge, was unable to be present in court, Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., explained to his worship that Mr. Rose had been found by the constable sitting in his car with some beer which he had purchased in a beverage room. The caps on the bottles were not those belonging to them. The bottles had been opened.

"How much beer did he have?" asked the magistrate.

"Two quarts and a pint," replied the defendant.

The case of John Doble, Pefferlaw, charged with selling liquor without a license and with having liquor not purchased on his own permit, was again remanded for two weeks. The case had been remanded from last month.

Rhea Jordan, 6th concession of Whitechurch, who is charged with setting fire to the barn of Albert Hoover, also of the sixth concession, on Oct. 4, and with stealing $5, the property of Leona Hoover, on Oct. 2, was remanded until next week. Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., asked that the defendant be mentally examined.

His worship fined Frank Barkey, Toronto, $5 and costs on each of two charges of having no flares on his car and $1 and costs on each of two charges of having bad lights. Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that the defendant and his brother were driving two cars after dark with improper lights.

Speeding cases again held the limelight as Magistrate Woodliffe imposed fines ranging from $5 to $10 and costs. The only motorist fined for speeding on Yonge St. was Sidney Ball, Toronto, who was charged with travelling at 65 miles an hour.

The defendant denied that he had been speeding or that his speedometer at any time showed that he was going over 50 miles an hour. His son, who had been riding in the front seat of the car at the time the officer clocked his father's driving, testified that he had been watching the speedometer, as he liked to "catch" his father up.

According to Constable Ferguson, he timed Mr. Ball on the Bradford flats and later between Holland Landing and Aurora.

"I have been driving for 26 years," stated the defendant. "If I was going a few miles over the limit, it might be hard for me to tell, but 15 miles, I'd certainly know that." He admitted that his speedometer had not been checked for nearly two years. The officer's had been checked in September.

"I can't believe that the officer who followed you for seven miles could be wrong," advised his worship. "I am satisfied that his speedometer was accurate and that he checked your speed correctly. However, I am convinced that you think that you were not going so fast, so I am giving you the minimum fine of $5 and costs."

His worship also fined Robert Pelletier, Orlia, $5 and costs for driving on Eagle St. at 45 miles an hour. Constable Kenneth Mount timed Mr. Pelletier.

Those clocked in Aurora by Chief Constable Fisher Dunham were: M. E. Hamilton, Sutton, fined $10 and costs (50 miles an hour), Edward R. Reed, Toronto, Miss L. L. Hanson, Toronto, James Davies, Picton, and J. R. Kearney of Canada, Leaside, fined $8 and costs (45 miles an hour), John Grainger, Toronto, Unique Art Studio, Toronto, and A. L. Trafford, Toronto, fined $6 and costs (43 miles an hour).

Those fined for exceeding the speed limit in North Gwillimbury and timed by Constable Alex. McCallum were: Orvin Mcnutt, Shelburne, William G. Eawden, Toronto, and Miles Pettit, Toronto, fined $9 and costs (45 miles an hour), William A. Englin and Jack Ainsworth, both of Toronto, and each fined $6 and costs (43 miles an hour).

Called before the bar to explain his handling of the news, the printer of the paper offered to prove that the report was an exact transcript of the member's words. "That may be so," said Martin, "but tell me this—did I speak them in italics?"

Village Of Churches Wouldn't Swap Main Streets

With Simcoe County Village Of Beverage Rooms

Editor of Stouffville's thriving Tribune, rated as one of the best village weeklies in Ontario, A. V. Nolan evidently got an unfavorable impression of Bradford's beer prosperity on the occasion of a recent visit.

Incidentally, when the Stouffville Tribune a couple of years ago won the Joe Clark trophy for the best weekly in a village of less than 1,500 population, the judges noted that, according to the Tribune's contents, Stouffville was an extremely religious village with an unusual interest in churches, church activities and religion. They also noted that Stouffville merchants, judging by their advertising in the Tribune, were unusually progressive and Stouffville unusually thriving for a community of its size.

The Tribune's comments therefore on the village of Bradford and its beverage rooms are particularly interesting, even though they may be prejudiced,

INSTITUTE ENTERTAINS

NEIGHBORING BRANCH

The Women's Institute held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed. Deavitt on Wednesday afternoon of last week. There were over 40 present.

The visitors from Elmhurst Women's Institute were welcomed by Mrs. Archie Sedore, and Mrs. Cameron expressed their great pleasure in being present.

The meeting came to order by singing the Institute Ode, followed by the Institute Creed.

The minutes of the last meeting and correspondence were read by the assistant secretary, Mrs. Melvin Wright. The roll-call, "How to make Sunday a restful day," was answered by everyone. After the business meeting Mrs. Cameron gave a splendid address.

Mrs. James Clarke read a very interesting paper and Mrs. Smithers gave a delightful paper on "Child welfare," after which Mrs. Pollard read on "Putting to good use what you are throwing away."

Mrs. Cameron gave a very interesting demonstration on arranging flowers. Community singing was then enjoyed, including "The more we are together," "Home, Sweet Home," and "The Old Rugged Cross."

A vote of thanks was then given to the hostess, Mrs. Deavitt, after which the singing of the national anthem brought the meeting to a close.

A delicious lunch was served and the social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

OLD LADY KILLED BY PASSING TRUCK

fund. So it was that his colleagues on the war memorial committee decided to honor his memory by placing his portrait in the library.

"A public library is one of our greatest assets," declared Sir William. "Free access to books is one of the keys to a better democracy. Nearly all my immediate kith and kin are gone but I am not alone. My companions are my books, all old friends, many familiar to me as a young man. I often sit in my library, not necessarily reading but remembering too."

"There is nothing more valuable than books. They enable us to enjoy life when earlier friends pass away. I am glad to see the minute book of this library so well preserved. It holds many items interesting to the people."

"I am proud to present this photograph of Mr. Fleury. He was a fine man and a great friend. His many deeds of kindness are known to all. It is fitting that his likeness should be placed here. I am glad to see things so well cared for here. The quarters are not very pretentious but they serve their purpose and supply a need in the lives of the people of this community. Mr. Fleury's heart was in this library. The minute-book goes back over 75 years and I can recall most of the names."

"I recall Mr. Walton's father. He was a great supporter of mine. I never had an unkind word from any citizen of Aurora. No one here ever spoke unkindly of me. It is a nice to recall that. I have the most vivid memory of Aurora and to you who are entrusted with carrying on this library I wish every success."

Mrs. C. J. Devins received the photograph from the hands of Sir William, expressing her thanks on behalf of the board. Sir William then autographed the back of the photograph, and shook hands with everyone gathered there.

Ex-Mayor J. M. Walton acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced Sir William. He paid tribute to Mr. Fleury's work and recalled earlier times. Among others present at the ceremony were Walter Wood, Milton Fleury (cousin of the deceased benefactor), Mayor Frank Underhill, Rev. Roy Hicks, Delroy Babcock and Mrs. Ralph Grieve, of the library board, Miss Marjorie Andrews and Miss Mary Griffith librarians, Major W. H. Taylor, Rev. Theo. White, Rev. W. Stewart, Principal John G. McDonald and others.

VIVIAN QUINN IS LOVELY BRIDE

Aurora United church was the setting for the wedding on Saturday of Vivian Harriett, only daughter of Mrs. Lawrence George Quinn and the late Mr. Quinn, to Mr. Lloyd Albert B. Lynd of Toronto, eldest son of Rev. and Mrs. Garnet W. Lynd of Downsview. Gladiali and fern decorated the church. Rev. Garnet W. Lynd, father of the groom, and Rev. Roy F. Hicks conducted the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was charmingly gowned in a dress of white silk jersey made on fitted lines with long scalloped torso and Elizabethan sleeves with points over the hands. Her finger-ring veil was caught to the head with white mums and her arm-length bouquet was Richmond red roses and swansonia. She carried a lace handkerchief, carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Elizabeth Nesbitt of Toronto and Miss Vivian Wilcox of Aurora were bridesmaids. Miss Nesbitt's gown of rose silk jersey was made on flowing lines with fitted midriff, matching shoulder-length veil fastened with wine and rose colored flowers. Miss Wilcox's gown was of wine silk jersey made on similar lines with matching headpiece. They carried large bouquets of Briarcliffe roses.

Mr. Gordon D. Patton was the groomsmen. Messrs. Wesley and Eric Lynd, brothers of the groom, were ushers. Miss Marion Lynd of Port Credit sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because". The wedding music was played by Mrs. Cedric Willis, organist of the church.

A reception was held at "The Chateau," where Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. Lynd, Sr., received with the bride party. The bride's mother wore a raven wine Peau de Feache crepe gown with black hat and corsage of Columbia roses and the groom's mother wore a full-length frock of romance blue crepe with black hat and corsage of Butterfly roses.

For travelling the bride wore a brown dress with beige coat and brown hat and accessories and corsage of bronze baby mums. After a motor trip to the Laurentians and points east, Mr. and Mrs. Lynd will live in Toronto.

"We have all received precious gifts from our ancestors," he said. "Each succeeding generation of people makes its sacrifices in order that their children may inherit something they think to be better than they knew."

"We, too, must look to the future."

He closed his sermon with a poem by Caroline Miles Hill.

"We have all received precious gifts from our ancestors," he said. "Each succeeding generation of people makes its sacrifices in order that their children may inherit something they think to be better than they knew."

Queen's Yorks Offer To Train Youths, 18, 19

A company of the Queen's York Rangers is calling for recruits 18 and 19 years of age to replace men lost to the active service forces.

This is a northern York county company of the York county regiment, and is manned and officered by local men. Members of the unit learn the fundamentals of the military life in congenial companionship.

Interest is added by the fact that this historic unit gives training with rifle, machine-gun, defence against gas, map-reading and in a variety of other subjects. There is "never a dull moment."

Quite a few boys have already answered the invitation and taken advantage of the opportunity to get into this famous unit.

Lieut. R. B. Canham, Newmarket, Lieut. Earl Bales, Lansing, and Lieut. K. M. Stiver, Newmarket, are ready to give further information to prospective recruits. Anyone interested is invited to drop in at the Aurora armories on Thursday nights to "see what it is all about."

Major D. O. Mungovan of Newmarket is second-in-command of the unit.

OLD LADY KILLED BY PASSING TRUCK

Miss Elizabeth Caister, aged Aurora resident, was struck by a truck on Yonge St. almost opposite Dawson's Grill and almost instantly killed on Tuesday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock.

Miss Caister, who came to Aurora about six years ago, was residing with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Proctor and had left the house a few minutes before the tragedy, going south on Yonge St. and then attempting to cross the highway. The truck, which was driven by Harold Freethy of Osprey township in Grey county, was proceeding to Toronto with a load of pigs at it, it is said, an average rate of speed.

In his statement to Chief Constable Fisher Dunham, Freethy said he saw Miss Caister on the road and he sounded his horn, but she continued to come on. He then applied his brakes and swung to the right, the unfortunate woman coming in contact with the vehicle just behind the cab door. A car coming from the south had made it impossible to attempt a swerve to the left. At the time of the accident it was raining slightly.

The truck pulled up within a few feet of the impact, with its wheels over the sidewalk. Miss Caister was carried to Frankton's garage, but Dr. G. W. Williams and Coroner Dr. C. J. Devins could do nothing for her when they arrived within a few moments of the accident. Freethy was allowed to proceed on his way by Chief Constable Fisher Dunham after questioning and after photographs of the scene had been taken. Coroner Dr. C. J. Devins said he expected an inquest would be held.

The deceased was born in Tavistock, but had spent most of her life in Winnipeg, where she was an employee for many years of the C.N.R. She came to Aurora to reside with her niece Mrs. Edward Johnston, but when the Johnstons moved to Brampton a few months ago she decided to remain in Aurora. Aside from Mrs. Johnston, her only surviving relative is a brother, Edward Caister of Tavistock. The body will be taken to Winnipeg for burial.

Garbage Contractor Asks 50 Percent Pay Increase

Raymond Rowling, who holds the contract for the collection of garbage in Aurora, advised the town council on Monday evening that unless he obtained an increase in salary of $600 he would be forced to terminate the contract. His present contract at $1,200 was signed in 1938.

Mr. Rowling by his contract provides a dump suitable to the municipality and supplies his own truck, gasoline and labor.

"Gasoline, wages, repairs and tires are all higher in price," Mr. Rowling told the council. "I have calculated that an increase of $600 to bring the price to $1,800 for the job is the best I can do. If I could dump in town in the winter time I could take $300 less or $1,500, but it is a very expensive trip to the dump in the winter months."

"There is considerable merit to your claim and I feel sure the council is satisfied with your work, but you are asking for a 50 per cent increase," said Mayor Frank Underhill. "No matter how I feel in the matter I think we would have to call for tenders to justify an increase of this size."

"Yes, tenders would have to be called for," said Reeve C. A. Malloy. "I know we appreciate Mr. Rowling's work but we could not raise his pay without throwing the contract open."

"Would you tender again?" asked Mayor Underhill.

"Not at any figure less than $1,800 unless I can dump in town in the winter," said Mr. Rowling. "That is final."

"We may get lower offers but not as satisfactory service," said Councillor A. A. Cook. "We have no complaints about Mr. Rowling's work. He is not making any money at the present figure."

"A man with his own team of horses, his own dump, and his own labor could do it for less," said Mr. Rowling. "He is the only one that could."

"In some towns, like Newmarket, the citizens have to pay for this service themselves," said Councillor Rowland. "Even at $1,800 a year, considering the number of persons served, we are getting a low rate."

"Once we paid $1,500 and didn't get as good service," said Reeve Malloy.

"I think we are all agreed you should have an increase but I am not prepared to say how much," said Mayor Underhill. "I don't think a dump in town would work out. When we engaged Mr. Rowling the department of health saw his dump and picked it as the most suitable."

Under the terms of the contract it may be terminated by either party on one month's notice.

Reeve C. A. Malloy, chairman of the streets committee, was appointed to negotiate further with Mr. Rowling, but general opinion was that it would be necessary to call for new tenders.

Every A.H.S. Pupil Takes Part In Annual Field Day

Postponed by rain on Friday, the Aurora high school field day was held on Monday in all its glory, with a large crowd attending and old school shining through in late afternoon. A long card of events was run off smoothly with no accidents and the best of sportsmanship prevailing.

The students were divided into six different teams, every student in the school competing in some event. The squad captained by Craig McKenzie and Mavis Sisman captured the team prize, as they amassed 172 points, two points more than the team captained by Bill Thompson and Mary Emmett. The other four teams trailed off badly behind the two leaders.

Ten records went by the boards and two were equalled in amazing performances, considering the heavy ground and fairly long grass in spots.

Peter Hughey captured the senior boys' title with a total of 35 points with Eric Bilborough as runner-up.

Bilborough captured three firsts to Hughey's two, but the new champion scored in every event he entered and in the half-mile set a new record as he clipped 2-3 seconds from the old mark.

Anson Gilbert took the sprints handily, while fine performances were given by Craig McKenzie, Al Stephenson and George Morris.

Vanetta Maaten took the senior girls' title with 19 points. Mary Emmett and Verna Bryson gave her a hard tussle as they each totalled 16 points. This was the only section in which no records fell.

CHIEF ASKED TO DEAL WITH JUVENILES

The town council is instructing Chief Constable Fisher Dunham to deal with a series of juvenile misdemeanors. The salvage box placed by the Boy Scouts in front of the post office has been damaged and certain materials placed there have been removed on occasions and sold privately. In addition several windows in the Mechanics' hall have been broken.

HOLDS CAPTAINCY

Gerald Chubb, son of G. C. Chubb, who was manager of the Bank of Montreal here some years ago, is a captain with the Strathcona Horse. Gerry attended St. Andrew's College and Royal Military College.

"The experiment has proved a tremendous success. British and Canadian farmers having both benefited by the exchanges of ideas, hints and suggestions. These Canadian enthusiasts take their own ration books with them when they go to our farms, and they both work hard and skillfully for their keep."

"Incidentally, the time they spend on the land helping our farmers at a period when they most need aid in their harvesting work, does not count as leave."

"Our own farmers have been quick to make their visitors feel at home and many enduring friendships have been formed between men to take their turn on leave who work in the mother country."

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK VISITS AURORA LIBRARY

Visiting the scenes of his entry into public life Sir William Mulock, K.C.M.G., on behalf of the Aurora war memorial association, presented to the Aurora public library board a picture of the late H. W. Fleury on Monday. Mrs. C. J. Devins receives the picture for the board, and Mayor Frank Underhill looks on. In the dim background may be seen Major W. H. Taylor, one of Aurora's best known citizens.

Former Aurora Lady Injured In City

Miss Grace Southmayd of Toronto, former Aurora resident, was seriously injured last week when knocked to the pavement at Yonge and Woodlawn Aves., Toronto, by a bicyclist.

Miss Southmayd was returning from her work in the late afternoon and was crossing Yonge St. when struck. The cyclist alleged he rang his bell and could not avoid the accident, due to the heavy traffic. She was knocked unconscious and suffered a fractured skull. She was rushed to the Toronto General hospital, where she is still confined. Latest reports say her condition is favorable.

IS RADIO TECHNICIAN

Leading Aircraftman Bert MacGill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William MacGill, of Mosley St., Aurora, graduated as a radio technician at Guelph R.C.A.F. centre and is believed to be overseas now.

Sir William Opens Book At Chapter One In Career

North York's grand old man, Sir William Mulock, K.C.M.G., returned to the scene of his first political triumph on Monday when he presented to the Aurora public library a framed photograph of the late Herbert W. Fleury, a former mayor, on behalf of the Aurora war memorial committee.

It was in 1832, the nonagenarian recalled, that he had received his first political nomination in the Aurora town hall, the present library quarters being part of the old public hall which occupied the top of the town hall at that period.

The ceremony honored the memory of Mr. Fleury, who died last October and who was one of the outstanding supporters of both the Aurora public library and the Aurora war memorial. Originally there

Aurora Soldier Works On English Farm For Harvest

You never know where you will meet Canadian boys in these days of war in Europe, Asia and Africa. You may find them on an English farm jolting out at you from the pictures in an English publication. That was the experience of Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey of Newmarket when she received a few pages out of the English magazine "Illustrated," sent to her by a sister in the old country recently.

The pictures tell of Canadian soldiers who took farm jobs to give the English farmers a helping hand and to see what English farms were like.

One picture shows Percy Bradbury, foreman at Northbrook Dairy Farm, Bentley, welcoming to the farm George Painter of Aurora, and the Calvary of Barrie. Another picture shows Ernie Calway "in control of the tatter at Northbrook farm." The magazine states that "he farms his own land in Barrie, Ontario, and was keenly interested in studying our farming methods."

DOWN THE CENTRE

Bruce Stephens, the Aurora junior left-winger, captured the senior boys' field day title at Richmond Hill high school with a fine performance. He took five events. By a rule of the school, which is a good one, we think, a boy is only able to win the senior title once. So Syd Lepard, another pretty fair performer, was awarded the honors by reversion. Stephens is in great shape and with two years more in junior company should make a name for himself. He has plenty of brains and ability but skates a bit stiffly. Practice would remedy that.

Teddy Groskurth of Weston, who guarded the twine for Aurora in the S.P.A. series last year and almost singlehanded beat U.T.S., is now located in St. Catharines and slated to be the regular netminder. Teddy's brother, Don, played with Aurora in the palmy days, but when Richmond Hill entered a team one year he was lost to Charlie Rowntree. Younger brother Teddy first made headlines with Bolton juniors and was known to play here but working hours didn't permit. He is now a Ranger snared him and he was a super-duper at the Gardens all last season.

Ran Ford, the fainting phenom from Perry Sound, who guarded the cage for Newmarket Redmen to a dominion crown in '32, was the regular St. Kitt's goalie, but he has never been consistent since he was in Canamouth. Last year Walt Coupland, a made-over increase player, spelled him, but the latter is said to be moving to Niagara Falls with his former coach, Ivan Corrigan. Groskurth will not be replaced once he's given the nod.

Hughy is getting a spot of attention from some of our mutual favorites. For instance, Ross Waddell, the diminutive goalie of last year's juniors, is playing at quarterback for Westside juniors in the interprovincial junior tour. Ross is cool and has the grey matter to make good in any sport and his size, too, is pretty well suited for field generalship.

Del Beaumont has also taken up the fall pastime and is with Bobby Coulter's North Toronto team, who are doing very nicely. Del, if he doesn't make the grade with Marlboro juniors, we bet back here he can easily under the real defence rule or nearest town rule too. He would be very welcome.

Junior Cummings was one of the stars or goals, as you like, for Oakwood Indians in their senior O.R.F.U. debut. He made two first downs for some of the Toronto team's few gains but dropped a ball when tackled which went for a touch. He is a neat blocker and is relieved in the backfield by Jack Dyte, who hails from Barrie. You will remember him as the big Barrie defenceman, who was poised to Aurora a few years back, the first time Aurora won the local junior group.

Moose Brennan, the Tiger bad-man, is in his element at flying wing for the Oakwood boys. You can get away with things in football that are inky on the ice. Besides, there are no Kenny Holmeses refereeing rugby.

While still on the subject of rugby, Eddie Thompson, ace back-finder of Huron Beach, who is a pilot officer at Borden, is the nephew of Mrs. W. E. Griffith of Aurora and a cousin of Bill Griffith, the Aurora high school athlete. Needless to say, Bill is pretty proud of Cousin Eddie and Eddie, too, can give Bill a nod, for the lad is one of the best all-arounders at the local high school. Guess athletic abilities run in families.

Port York sports night is being held at Port York armories on Saturday, Oct. 12. Besides military manoeuvres there are some matched boxing bouts being arranged and Bob Benville, who made a fine showing at Niagara camp, will be one of the York representatives. There will be others too. A dance concludes the evening and don't say I told you, but the boys of C company are allowed to bring their girl friends and guests, if you follow me. The whole affair looks like a pipper and with all the excitement going together looks as if the reserve army boys are in for considerable fun.

Pole vault, Eric Bilborough, Peter Hughey, William Griffith, Douglas Nisbet. Half-mile, Peter Hughey, Alan Stephenson, William Thompson, 100 yards, Alan Stephenson, Peter Hughey, Eric Bilborough. Ravenshoe

Among those who visited Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon last week were Mr. Gordon's sister, Mrs. John Young, of Toronto, and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Weary, and Mr. Weary of Cleveland, Mr. John Cowleson and Miss Peters of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith of Toronto, a bride and groom, who are on their honeymoon north, spent the day with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon.

John Kellington is not well but it is hoped he will soon be better.

A large crowd gathered at Ravenshoe on Monday night to partake of the wonderful supper and also enjoyed the beautiful pictures and the talk given by Mr. Wallace.

Indian Chief's Squaw Delights In Tom-Tom

This story of student missionary life in British Columbia is told by Roland Hill, B.A., Aurora man studying at Wycliffe College, University of Toronto. The story is reprinted from "The Log," western Canadian Anglican publication.

Since the last issue of the "Log," the "John Anile" has made two complete tours of its area. Wally (the Skipper) and George (the engineer-cook) have had their well-earned holidays, David Brackley (an English war guest from Brentwood College) has joined the crew for the summer, and I have become almost convinced that I am not a good sailor.

One of the interesting visits of the past month was the one to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blakeley at Egmont. Here on their little rock island they have, by long and diligent work, built a very beautiful flower garden and a very profitable vegetable garden. I said "built" for that is just what they did. All the soil was brought over, pail by pail, from the mainland and deposited in beds made out of rock. From some of these small plots four crops are reaped; tulips in April or May, potatoes in July, tomatoes in September, and cabbage in December. The hospitality found on this little island was just as abundant as the cultivation.

On the Sunday morning (July 6) divine service was held in the "little red schoolhouse" at Egmont. The Griffith children came early and helped clean up the school and placed some flowers on the teacher's desk, which was to be used as a prayer desk and pulpit. The splendid attendance was augmented by a few loggers from Agamemnon Bay and some families from the other side of the "Chuck."

Half Moon Bay has become a favorite calling place for this sky-pilot. On my first visit to this place I was able to meet most of the people at a pie social. (Personally I can think of no better place to meet people.) In this case the social was sponsored by the Half Moon Bay auxiliary to raise money for an operating lamp for St. Mary's hospital. But in spite of it, or because of the pie social, the service on the following morning was well attended. Typical of B.C. hospitality, when my sailor-brother, Art from Esquimalt, visited me for a weekend the Half Moon Bay folks made us both feel completely at home.

At Lasqueti Island the increased attendance at services, at False Bay and Tucker Bay is most encouraging. But we are sorry to see two of our most ardent supporters, the Forrester and the Fletchers, leave the island. However, we wish both families success and happiness in their new undertakings.

During our last trip up Jervis Inlet, after calling at MacKenzie's Camp, where a friendly welcome was given us, we sailed into the well-known Princess Louisa Inlet to tie up for the night. As we passed through the engaging narrows we had our first glimpse of the Indian village—the first unit of the much-talked-of summer resort of Mr. Hamilton. After tying up at the float the manager of the camp kindly showed us through the cabins, the restaurant and store. But what was most interesting was to watch Chief Mathias Joe and his son carving a huge totem pole out of a cedar log. With sharp chisels of various shapes, a heavy hammer and steady arms they chopped and carved away whilst the chief's wife and daughter sat by, proudly watching their men. This particular pole was to set forth the story of the Hamilton family and the chief gladly explained to us the meaning of the various figures.

In the evening we went back to the chief's teepee, where we found him sitting on a bearskin beside the fire while painting a thunder-bird on a canvas. The canvas sat on his wife's very pleasant woman, tapping on a totem and humming a native tune to herself. It required little urging to start the chief telling about the history of his people, the Squamish. From this he went on to tell us more of the culture of his people, their potlatch, their medicine men, their weddings.

There we sat on moss-covered rocks, watching the dramatic impressions of this wise old native. In the background his wife frequently tapped her totem as the ebbside roared through the narrows. The sun had gone down behind the steep cliffs across the inlet some time ago. Normally we would have felt cold. But the zeal and fervor with which the chief told his stories made us forget all else. Finally he stopped, as though worn out, we walked silently back through the trees toward our ship. As we stepped on deck we looked back. The moon was rising behind the tall firs and cedars on top of the sharp cliff, against which were silhouetted two totem poles standing on the bare rocks. Neither George nor I spoke for a few moments. The only noise now was the rushing of the ebbside. Here was peace and calm. As I gazed at this indescribable view the words of the psalmist became very real, "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork" (Psalm 19).

Patiently Waiting

For his gallantry a Scottish soldier was given a decoration a week or so later, a pal asked him.

"And what does the wife think of your medal, Sandy?"

"She doesn't ken yet," was the reply. "It's no my turn to write."

Guard Against Sluggish System

These times make bigger demands on workers. Many find the going hard . . . tire easily. Often the cause is just internal sluggishness, so common because modern diets are apt to lack proper bulk.

Help Keep the System Normal This Natural, Pleasant Way

Constipation due to lack of bulk should yield to Post's Bran Flakes eaten regularly. They provide enough natural bulk in the form of bran to keep food wastes moving promptly.

So to help prevent sluggishness, eat Post's Bran Flakes every day. There's a real treat for you in their appetizingly different, nutlike flavour. It's simply delicious. If the trouble still persists, it's time to see a physician.

ADVERTISING

(A Message to Local Merchants)

It is difficult for us to conceive of any single force which yields so great an influence in our life as advertising . . . yet, how many people stop to consider what advertising really is?

Advertising is any means or method of communication of essential information as to where, when and how a commodity or service may be obtained . . . and WHY IT IS DESIRABLE.

Before people will buy, they must be "sold." They must make up their mind that they want your goods or service more than any other product that their money will buy . . . more than they want to keep the money.

But how can a person find this magic formula of convincing prospects "WHY IT IS DESIRABLE"?

THE ANSWER LIES IN THE PRODUCT OR SERVICE ITSELF . . .

Why do people buy your product now?

How do they use it?

What does it do for them?

Where do they use it?

When do they use it?

How often do they use it?

Take a pencil and write down the answers to these questions. Study your answers and you'll have the basis on which to build your advertising message.

Then, your next job is to tell them "Why it is desirable" from their point of view. Remember, they are interested in their own wants and needs—not in a lot of adjectives making boastful claims. The public doesn't care how big your firm is or how old it is or where it is . . . they are interested in themselves, their health, their happiness, their family and their own beliefs.

FIX THIS THOUGHT IN YOUR MIND: "WHY IT IS DESIRABLE FROM THEIR POINT OF VIEW" . . . AND YOU WILL ACHIEVE SUCCESS IN YOUR ADVERTISING.

Your local newspaper has proven that it is the most desirable medium for many sales messages—what about yours?

Verified Circulation
Protects Advertisers

On Oct. 18 and 17 the Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, will hold its 28th annual meeting in Chicago. The Bureau is a cooperative and non-profit association of 2,600 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies in the United States and Canada and is an important factor in the progress of the advertising and publishing industry.

At the Chicago meeting the members will elect officers and discuss circulation methods and problems of mutual interest. The objects and accomplishments of this association are of direct concern to all advertisers.

Whether a business makes an annual investment of $500 or $5,000,000 for advertising purposes, it is, of course, desirable that the maximum value be obtained in exchange for the money expended.
In determining the media and methods to be used, a careful study of values in the light of existing, approved standards is essential to the most profitable results.

The definite standards which advertisers use in evaluating newspaper advertising are the result of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.
The Bureau, or A.B.C., as it is better known to advertising men and publishers, was established in 1914. Previous to that time the publishers of newspapers had no generally accepted ways and means of telling advertisers about their circulation.

In other words, there were no established standards for circulation values or accepted methods of verification of the circulation that publishers claimed. The publisher who actually had a circulation of 500,000 was at a distinct disad-vantage in meeting the claims of a competitor who might claim 5,000 but really have only 2,500.

In addition to wanting audited figures the advertisers of that day began to ask for other information.
Who reads the publication? Where does it go? How much do people pay for it? The answers to these and other questions, of course, have an important bearing on a publication's value to advertisers.

Recognizing the mutual need for dependable facts and figures on circulation, in 1914 a group of publishers and advertising men organized the Audit Bureau of Circulations for the purpose of establishing uniform standards of circulation values and verifying the circulation figures and methods of the publisher members.

The Bureau operates under the direction of a board of 27 directors elected by the membership. Serving on the board are 12 advertisers, three advertising agency executives and 12 publishers. Thus, through majority representation on the board the guidance of the Bureau's policies is in the hands of the buyers of advertising.

The Bureau has a staff of especially trained auditors who make an annual or biennial audit of the circulation records of each publisher member. The reports based on these audits are then made available to advertisers so they can buy space in newspapers and periodicals on the basis of definite standards and known values.

National advertisers and their agencies have long made extensive use of the information in A.B.C. reports. In the case of merchants and other local advertisers with limited appropriations it is, of course, just as important that they too use a definite measure of values when they buy advertising.
They buy and sell merchandise by well-known measures of weight, quality, color, etc., and now A.B.C. has made it possible for them to make their investments in newspaper advertising by means of equally accurate and verified information.

The extent to which newspaper advertisers are protected by A.B.C. verified circulation is evident from the fact that 90 percent of the daily newspaper circulation of the United States and Canada is audited by the Bureau.

MOUNT ALBERT CIGARETTE THROWN IN LEAVES CAUSES FIRE

Someone accidentally set fire to leaves on the sidewalk one night this week by throwing a cigarette stub away. Serious damage might have been caused had not someone seen it and put it out.

This is fire prevention week. Think before you throw anything still lit away.

The Red Cross has a great deal of sewing, which they are being asked to do in the township, and would like all those who sew to help with this work. Material can be secured from Mrs. Barnes. The need is urgent and all must do their part. Knitters are wanted also.

The Red Cross is planning an evening in the hall for Friday, Nov. 7.

Mrs. Isaac Allison and daughter, Maureen, and Mrs. C. Allison of Washington, D.C., were guests at the home of Mrs. Blyth on Wednesday of this week.

A number from here attended the fair at Markham on Saturday afternoon.

Tickets are on sale for the lovely hand-made tablecloth donated to the Red Cross by Mrs. Rennie, Sr.

A great many of the school pupils and others from here have been helping out with the vegetables on the marsh.

Mr. and Mrs. David Brooks of Port Carling were weekend guests of the Misses Brooks.

The Y.P.S. of the United church held their opening meeting on Monday evening and planned for their next meeting, to be held on Monday, Oct. 13.

a social evening of moving pictures by Mr. Kurtz, games and lunch. All young people are invited to be present.

The concert in the town hall last Wednesday night in aid of the Red Cross British bomb victims' fund was put on by a concert troupe from Toronto, and they were a very talented lot of young people, both with their dancing and singing, and it was much enjoyed by the large audience, who stayed on after the program for the auction sale of things which had been donated. The concert was under the auspices of the Young Men's Bible class, and they were able to make a fine donation to the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilson returned from their honeymoon and spent the weekend in town, going on to their home in Toronto on Sunday.

Mrs. Donald Loach and Mrs. Clifford Loach of Toronto spent several days this week at the Davidson home.

RETIRED MERCHANT DIES IN 86TH YEAR

After an illness of only three days, Allen Theaker died at his home at Mount Albert on Wednesday morning, Sept. 24, from a heart condition, in his 86th year.

Mr. Theaker was the son of Emma Jagger and Tedbar Theaker and was born in Honley, Yorkshire, England, on Jan. 25, 1856. He married, on Dec. 17, 1878, Maybeth E. Rowland, who predeceased him on Jan. 25 of this year.

Mr. Theaker was a retired funeral director and merchant but was able to go to the store up till the Saturday before his death. He could tell many interesting stories of the olden days. He was a member of the United church.

Surviving are two sons and a daughter, Everton S. Theaker and Wesley H. Theaker, and Mrs. Emma Crone.

The funeral service was held at his late residence in Mount Albert on Friday, Sept. 26, and was conducted by Rev. R. V. Wilson. Interment was in Mount Albert cemetery.

The pallbearers were Ethan Haigh, Ed. Haigh, Herb. Harman, Norman Oldham, Donald Crone and Jas. Hammett.

NORTH GWILLIMBURY CONSIDER CHANGE IN ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

North Gwillimbury township council met at Belhaven on Monday with all the members present. The plan of a new subdivision, being opened up by Walter Richmond, was approved by the council.

David Dunkelmann had requested the council to deepen a road ditch near his property but the council were satisfied that this work would not improve the flow of water and declined to undertake the work.

Favorable reports were received on the progress being made by the township crusher and graveling operations.

There was some discussion on the matter of changing the system of assessment. This would mean having the assessment made in the year previous to the year in which the tax roll was made, a plan which appeared to have some decided advantages in respect to non-resident properties. The clerk was asked to get some further information about the working of this system.

It was decided to arrange as soon as possible to have a heavy motor grader with a snow-plow under rental, to take care of plowing township roads during the coming winter.

ASKS WOMEN

who were taking part in the program, Miss Chapman said she was interested to find the relationship between the men at the training camp and the Women's Institute organization.

"Women must think seriously of the relationship between the community and the men in training in their community."

"We want to understand all we can about the war, about Nazi Germany, Britain and our own country." She was impressed, she said, with the colossal ignorance of women about public affairs, and with the responsibility of women, when they have so much influence, to understand more about them.

Miss Chapman discussed in a fascinating manner a number of books published during the last three or four years, which she thought would help women to understand present problems.

Miss Chapman mentioned the fine educational work done last winter by the farm radio forums.

Following Miss Chapman's address Miss Agnes Macphail was called upon to say a word. Miss Macphail paid tribute to Miss Chapman.

"This fair is a fine idea and something new and the women are to be congratulated," she said.

"Both country and farm women are doing fine things in helping the war effort," she said. "I agree that it is easier to do the practical things than to get out a lot of books and study them. History is politics solved. I hope I live long enough to know the answers to our present problems."

Miss Macphail expressed her belief in the importance of the rural women and the urban women understanding each other better.

"I could never come back to Newmarket without remembering the four happy, almost perfect, years I spent at Sharon, teaching at Pegg's school and knowing the Wilnot family," she concluded. "I think it was the Wilnots that practically started me in public life."

Following the program in the town hall the ladies went downstairs where afternoon tea was served.

Mrs. Ross Evans, who was a Red Cross nurse in the last war, wearing her uniform, poured tea and other members of the Institute also poured. The downstairs of the town hall was circled with attractive booths of various kinds.

Mrs. Frank Hope, convener of the fair, was ably assisted by the following ladies, who were convener of the booths or were in charge of other departments of the fair: Mrs. E. H. Adams, Mrs. Ed. Neilly, Mrs. Rodney Ecobichon, Mrs. Fred Penrose, Mrs. Ed. Brimmer, Mrs. Hugh Campbell, Mrs. Max Smith, Mrs. Earl Pipher, Mrs. Jas. Bond, Mrs. Roy McDonald.

The Newmarket military camp pipe band was present and provided music. The band and the other soldiers who took part were present through the courtesy of Col. R. B. Harkness, D.S.O., commanding officer of the camp.

During the evening 25 tables of euchre were played in the town hall.

Nearly $200 was raised at the fair, which goes to the war work of the Women's Institute and will be used for the Newmarket soldiers overseas.

CITIZEN-SOLDIER

You could get material for writing from the Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army or some organization."

"For badminton the seats are just moved to the side but for a dance they have to be taken right out of the hall," said Mr. Vale. "There wouldn't be enough space for a recreation room if you piled them up at the side."

"The downstairs would be a fine place if a new floor was put down and tables around," stated Mr. Evans. "Then they could put the gloves on if they wanted to."

"The Revolver club took good care of the building and they are a decent bunch of boys," said Councillor A. V. Higginson. "If they want to invite the boys from the camp to come in for an evening, that would be very nice. But it sounds as if they are going to turn the building right over to the camp."

"I very much resent that," replied Mr. Dixon. "All we are asking for is the upstairs."

"It is the only auditorium north of Toronto in the county of York," stated Mr. Vale.

"As far as the pistol club is concerned, the boys have one and one-half or two tons of steel down there," said Councillor J. L. Spillite. "I don't see why the camp needs to interfere with the club. I think Deputy-Reeve Vale is going too far ahead. Councillors Evans and Dixon only want to start at the bottom of this thing and work up. Later on they may get a larger place."

"If they develop this thing, we will have to turn the building over to them," insisted Deputy-Reeve Vale. "And we can't be moving out upholstered chairs all the time."

"There won't be one hundred of them," answered Mr. Evans. "During the last war we had a canteen on the ground floor and the upstairs when we wanted it. Why can't we do it again?"

Mayor Dales thought it was a good scheme, but suggested trying to obtain the L.O.O.F. hall. All members agreed that it would be a fine building, so it was left with the committee to see what could be done.

"It seems to me that the government should be able to make some grant to assist in entertaining the boys out of camp on the street," declared the mayor. "It is not entirely a town's responsibility. I think when the government establishes these camps, they should make some provision. It will have to come."

"Sunday afternoon some of the soldiers, their wives and children were sitting on the grass down by the pond," said Mr. Dixon. "Couldn't the town buy some benches and put them down there?" asked Mayor Dales.

"I have every reason to believe we will get a great deal of help from the citizens of Newmarket, but we should get going first," said Mr. Evans.

Mr. Dixon, on behalf of the committee formed to establish this club-room for the soldiers,
